Part 2. Person

Describe a person that you knew when you were young and you still remember clearly.

You should say:

who this person was

how much time you spent with this person

what you liked to do with this person and explain why this person was special to you.

I'd like to speak about a person that I knew when I was young and that I still remember clearly.

She was my close friend when I was an elementary school student. Her name was Giwa. When I first met her, we were both 7 years old. We met each other every day. I mean, literally every single day, for like 2 years before she moved to another town. We went to the same school and we were in the same class. She was my best friend and I believe I was her best friend, too. We were inseparable. After school, we almost always spent time together either at my place or hers and we did homework together. We often played with Barbie dolls- I know it sounds cliché though. I also remember doing origami with her. I loved everything that we did together as friends.

Giwa was special to me because she was the closest friend that I'd ever had. She always helped me when I was in trouble and she was always kind to me. I will never forget the time we had as best friends.

Q: Do you sometimes meet this person?

No, I wish I could. I lost contact when she moved to another town when we were in Year 4. We didn't have the internet back then, so it wasn't easy for us to stay in touch. I don't know how I can possibly find her after all these years.

Q: Do other family members still remember this person?

Yes, absolutely. My parents and my sister still talk about Giwa and her family. I often had sleepovers with her and my family knew her and her parents well. So, my family members remember Giwa vividly.
